Time	Titles, Descriptions, Faculty	Minutes
7:00 am – 8:00 am Grand Ballroom Foyer A	Registration Check In	60 Min.
7:45 am - 8:15 am Grand Ballroom Foyer A	Continental Breakfast	30 Min.
8:15 pm - 8:30 am Grand Ballroom	Welcome Suggested Hashtags: #BISC_MI #MilesToGo	15 Min
8:30 am - 9:30 am Grand Ballroom	Humanizing “the Other;” Humanizing Ourselves - Juan Carlos Areán Building upon the ground-breaking 2017 roundtable on BIP’s current trends, alternative models, and promising practices, sponsored by the Office on Victims of Crime and the Office on Violence Against Women, Mr. Areán will speak of the need for BI practitioners to incorporate a trauma-informed lens, embrace cultural approaches, and engage in deep self-reflection. He will invite participants to ponder the meaning of healing in the context of responsibility, the overlap of victimization and perpetration, and the misuse of coercive systems in working with DV offenders.  Suggested Hashtags: #BIPPractice #DomesticViolence #TraumaInformed #Trauma #ViolenceAgainstWomen #HumanizingTheOther #Systematic #DVOffenders	60 Min
9:30 am - 10:30 am Grand Ballroom	La Cultura Cura, From Cycles to Circles; Moving Beyond Trauma Informed to Healing Centered - Jerry Tello The session will address the importance of rooting ourselves in a narrative that is beyond the immediate trauma to a place of acknowledging the generations of pain and multiple oppressions that many people carry. It reaches to the core of generational healing. It further lifts the importance of honoring indigenous based ideology, pedagogy and practice as teacher for healing westernized processes that often results in re-victimization.  Suggested Hashtags: #Healing #IntergenerationalTrauma #Oppression #Pedagogy	60 Min
10:30 am - 10:45 am	Break	15 Min
10:45 am - 11:45 am Grand Ballroom	Hearing Trauma &amp; Healing our Stories - Terri Strodoft &amp; Floyd Rowell Consider the mantra, any pain that is not transformed will be transferred. Our field has long known that little boys who grow-up witnessing or experiencing domestic violence or other childhood adversity, are significantly more likely to repeat this behavior themselves. Yet, when grown men come to the doors of our programs with the reality of repeating the cycle through their own perpetration of violence or abuse, we often consider their background experiences to be irrelevant, or little more than excuses to justify, blame or otherwise escape responsibility for their own choices and behavior. What difference would it make if we sincerely and authentically asked men the question of what happened to them? In this workshop we explore how a trauma-informed approach changes our program goals from fixing men’s problem, to holding space for men to heal.  Suggested Hashtags: #BreakTheCycle #TraumaInformed #Men #MaleSurvivors	60 Min

9:00 am -10:30 am Grand Ballroom	Women's Use of Force: A Practice and Research Overview - Lisa Young Larence, LMSW Understanding and addressing women's use of force in intimate relationships is a controversial national issue that affects first responders, criminal legal system personnel, and social service providers at the local, county, and state-wide levels. The inaccurate perception that all women who have used force are "batterers" often (mis)informs arrest procedures, judicial actions, and chosen interventions in many states. In many jurisdictions, this means that female survivors of domestic violence are arrested, charged, and then referred to Batterers' Intervention Programs (BIPs) for using force against their intimate male partners. Women referred to BIPs receive inappropriate "batterers treatment" rather than contextualized support and intervention. This potentially places women and their family members at a higher risk for abuse. Through lack of attention to context, interventions fail to meet the needs of these women and may also fail to meet the goals of the referring agency – to prevent future violent incidents. Using examples from Ms. Larence's direct practice work, recent publications, and ongoing research, she will raise the awareness of those unfamiliar with the issue and contribute to a deeper understanding for those already addressing the issue. Information from this presentation can be used to directly contribute to the well-being of women and their families. The domestic violence industry has several branches of work, from providing counseling and advocacy to victims/survivors, to court systems providing judgement and sanctions, to batterer intervention programs providing educational services to perpetrators, and probation departments conducting supervision and monitoring of offender behavior. Each of these systems have impact on individuals and community, and this simulation explores those impacts through a 30-45-minute exercise where one individual will represent an entire system, and 4-5 others will represent people who are involved with this system. As with all systems, there are always rules to follow, and those who follow rules are rewarded, and there are consequences for those who disobey - but what are places where these interactions can impact entire communities and groups of individuals? This simulation will involve pre-and post-briefing, and discussion. Rules for the simulation are simple and involve choice and interaction between participants. Multiple groups will be involved depending on attendance. Suggested Hashtags: #DomesticViolence #Colonialism #BIPPractice #Systemic #DV #Awareness #BattererIntervention  Evening Event – Option to Earn an Extra 1.5 Social Work CEUs 	90 Min

Those with different motives display different behaviors, and present different dangers to their victim and community. The commonality among batterers—their desire to dominate and control—has been understood for a long time. Unfortunately, the different motives driving them to seek power and control have not been generally understood, making it difficult to predict behavior or provide effective response. This workshop provides information that unlocks the mystery of domestic violence, and provides practical information that will change/enhance your response. Through experiential drumming and facilitated dialogue, this session is geared towards all working in the field of batterer intervention with an example of how innovative modalities may be able to address complex learning objectives. ## Motor City Casino Map

The choice to use violence is something that can, and must be changed. The language we use as professionals and organizations must be reflective of this foundational belief. As a movement, the term “batterer” has become commonplace to define a perpetrator of domestic violence; however, there has been a shift within our work as it relates to this term. When we call someone a “batterer,” it labels that person as nothing but, dehumanizing them and giving the impression that they cannot be anything else. If we truly believe that people can change, and that a person using violence can live a life of non-violence through the work we do, we must acknowledge the problematic implications of our current terminology and replace it with something better.

Organizations have begun to adopt the term “battering,” as it focuses on the behavior of the person choosing violence as opposed to labeling that person as a perpetrator. Doing this is more aligned with our philosophy and our understanding of this work.

Because of this, BISC-MI has decided to update our name to reflect this language change. Henceforth, our organization will be identified as the Battering Intervention Services Coalition of Michigan. It is important that we grow with our colleagues and adopt language that is reflective of the work we are doing and the philosophy we share as members of movement to end domestic and sexual violence.

Sincerely,

The BISC-MI Board
